Law Firm Appoints Michelle Y. Wu as Managing Partner

LOS ANGELES, January 13, 2014 – Adelson, Testan, Brundo, Novell & Jimenez (ATB), a national law firm focusing on workers' compensation defense, today announced it has established an office in Los Angeles and appointed Michelle Y. Wu as managing partner in the new office.

The addition of the Los Angeles office gives ATB 13 locations throughout California and 24 offices overall in 12 states. Established in 1996, ATB has more than 130 professionals serving clients across the U.S.

"As our firm continues to expand, we recognize that maintaining our ability to deliver superior results on a consistent basis requires that our attorneys be readily accessible to clients and within close proximity of key judicial venues," said Steven C. Testan, founder and senior managing partner of ATB. "Our Los Angeles office gives clients here greater access to our professionals and makes it easier and less costly for us to attend and monitor proceedings. At the same time, we're excited about having Michelle lead our new office. Her exceptional work for clients and extensive knowledge of California's evolving workers' compensation law and the state's judicial system suit her well for this role."

Ms. Wu has more than 13 years of experience as an attorney in California, including the past 11 years as a partner with ATB representing clients in matters involving workers' compensation defense. She began her career in 2001, serving as an associate attorney with two California law firms before joining ATB in 2003. She earned a B.S. degree in Paralegal Studies and a J.D. from University of Le Verne in California.
